Responsible AI Principles

AI systems built for government must be evaluated, bounded, and documented.
Tools that reach ministers must be reliable, auditable, and fair.
Transparency about how an answer was produced is a core requirement.
A system should decline to answer when the evidence base does not support a response.